FORTUNATE TOUCH

is a shot taken from the August Moon Festival in Boston Chinatown. The Chinese elders say that touching the lion will bring luck and fortune to you.

For this photo, I took the picture with BLANK and edited it using Adobe Photoshop and BLANK.

PRINTS

While sketching, I did navigation on the top with his logo located in the center. Ry liked this composition and thought it utilized the space more to show off more work.

Original Draft

Ry and I thought his name was way to out there and in your face so we decided to take it out and just have his logo there. When you hover over a link, it turns gold and if the user is on that screen, its identified with the color gold.

REFLECTION

WHAT DID YOU LEARN?

I learned to code a lot of html and css and I finally grasped the language a little more. During this project, I also learned more about how a website should function.

WHAT WERE SOME CHALLENGES?

Self-learning HTML and CSS was very challenging and it was really difficult for me to remember code. I couldn't quite grasp the language and when I couldn't code what I wanted, it was very frustrating.

HOW WOULD YOU DO IT AGAIN?

I would go in with more sketches of alternative layouts as well as hopefully be more knowledgeable of HTML and CSS and dare I say, Javascript. I would definitely want to carry out more of the smaller details and features of the website.

WHAT'S THE NEXT STEP?

I hope to develop this website more and to develop my skills further. I could finish this website as a personal project over winter vacation to keep me practicing and learning HTML and CSS.

THANK YOU.
